SECOND MEETING.

Re Daniel Farrell, adjourned second meeting. One debt was proved. The insolvent was examined by Mr. Stephen, official assignee, as to his expenditure during the six months prior to the date of the sequestration of his estate. From April to August Farrell lodged with his sister at Moore Park, but he did not pay her anything for board and lodging; witness, about the end of 1885, leased a Jaree farm at Goulburn of Mr. F. L. Rossi, to whom he paid £800 a-year; witness then had property worth £5000; that property was sold through Hardie and Gorman to Mr. Benjamin James; witness had spent the proceeds of the sale; his bank account would show how he expended the money; the property consisted of 110 acres of land at Pittwater, which witness sold to Benjamin James at £22 per acre.

The good steamship Kameruka took a good compliment of passengers (about 500 in number) to Newport, at the head of Pittwater. It was a most enjoyable trip; the vessel left Sydney at 10.00 o'clock in the morning, and arrived at Newport at 1 pm. The excursionists dispersed themselves over the mountains and glens. They returned from the wharf at half past 4, arriving in Sydney at 7. Three cheers were given for Captain Walker for his successful trip.

Scott's Hotel had its peak from 1918-1930, during which time it specialized in fish meals. The 1930 depression hurt Scott's Hotel. Bert worked for Clifford Love and Company, he and his wife took over from Minnie, stayed a couple of years then left. The Kemp family were the next managers. War had changed everything. Mr McClintock lived permanently at Scott's Hotel. Mr Douglas rented a section not in use for residence. Soon after the property was demolished

Mr David Scott said he felt convinced that a line of railway from North shore to Pittwater would yield as good a return as any line in the colony, for the cost of construction and working would be very small, whilst the passenger traffic would be very large from the crowds of visitors to the district at holiday time he had often heard expressions of wonder at a place so beautiful and attractive being so little known, and so ill provided with means of communication with the metropolis There would not be the slightest bar to the prosperity of the district, when once it was connected with Sydney by rail, and he felt confident in having that within a 12 months of the line being opened for traffic it would pay good interest on the cost of construction Before the construction of the Illawarra line now served by the railhead but little value, but immediately upon the iron track being laid down there would be such a demand for building and other purposes that the value of land was increased enormously And it would be the same in the case of a railway to Pittwater He moved, "That a branch league, to co-operate with the North Sydney, Manly, and Pittwater Railroad Extension League which has for its object the collection of information and proof of the feasibility of the proposed line be now formed, and that the members of the branch league be requested to Mr W C Woodcock seconded He said four years ago he formed a high opinion of the prospects of the Pittwater district and within a few years that opinion had been strengthened and confirmed It was part of his business to discover the beautiful spots of the colony but he had not yet come across a place that could compare with Newport in the matter of natural beauties and attractions there were thousands of visitors to the district, and although this was a matter of congratulation it was residents rather than visitors that were wanted In the absence of means of speedy communication with New York, they could hardly hope to get a large resident population, but he felt well persuaded that within a very short time of the opening of a line from Northshore to Pittwater, the latter would be one of the most populous suburbs of Sydney

HARBOUR EXCURSIONS.

It would be a curious holiday in Sydney if the harbour, the pride of all New South Welshmen, were not visited by a large proportion of the inhabitants of the city when determined upon obtaining a day's outing. Yesterday was no exception to the general rule, all the favourite spots of interest being well patronised. The Manly Beach steamers were running at half-hourly intervals during the whole of the day, and they were filled to the utmost of their capacity; while the steamers to Watson's Bay, Clontarf, Athol Gardens, Mossman's Bay, &c, all received more than usual patronage. Messrs. G. and B. Nicoll's steamer Australian took a large crowd of excursionists to Sandringham and Sons Souci, returning at an early hour in the evening. The Truganini, on her trip to the Hawkesbury, was well patronised. So far as we have been able to ascertain, no accident of any consequence took place. The members of the Australian Holy Catholic Guild held their annual picnic at Chowder Bay, and, as has always been the case, it was numerically, and indeed in every other respect, a great success. There could not have been fewer than 2500 on the ground. The usual sports and amusements were indulged in with the earnestness characteristic of these outings; they included dancing, football, rounders, &c. The Imperial Band was present, and rendered the necessary dance music. A feature in the proceedings was the Irish dancing in the smaller pavilion facing the hotel, on the top of the eminence overlooking the beach. The party were all lauded in safety at the Circular Quay shortly after dusk, after spending a very pleasant day. Pearl Bay was the scene of the excursion under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, and was visited by about 700 or 800 people. The delightful weather enabled almost everybody to join in the various games. A most enjoyable day was spent, and no accident of any kind occurred to mar the day's pleasure.

One of the most successful excursions that has taken place during the season was that which was held yesterday to Pittwater and the Hawkesbury River. The glorious scenery of this matchless river doubtless had the effect of inducing so large a number of persons to assemble on board the good ship Kembla, which was lying at the Circular Quay yesterday morning, ready to convey intending excursionists. At a quarter to 10 precisely the Kembla cast off her moorings and steamed away, having on board at least 800 people. The weather was magnificent, and the trip a most enjoyable one to most of those on board, though some were to be met with suffering from maldemer. Barrenjuey was rounded about 12, and the glorious scenery which burst upon the view of the excursionists, and which was seen for the first time by most of them, excited universal admiration. At a quarter to one the Kembla was brought up alongside the wharf at Newport, and the majority of her living freight, after getting ashore, dispersed in various directions. Refreshments were to be had in plenty on board the steamer, and about 150 partook of luncheon in the saloon. At four o'clock, when every spot worth visit-ing had been thoroughly "done" by most of the excursionists, the party re-embarked. The steamer was then headed down the bay, and after a pleasant run of about three-quarters of an hour Mount Elliott was rounded, Captain Skinner having kindly decided to give his passengers an additional treat by trip in to the entrance to the Hawkesbury. This was looked upon as a great treat, and frequent exclamations of delight were heard as each point of interest and beauty was passed. After going up the estuary about five miles, Captain Skinner turned his vessel's head homewards, and after a pleasant passage the Kembla was brought up alongside her wharf in Darling Harbour. No accident of any kind occurred to mar the day's enjoyment, and the almost universal verdict was that the excursion was about the most successful, in every respect, that has been, held this season. Wn' have received from Messrs. Mills, Pile, and Gilchrist, who have published it for the proprietors) an interesting pamphlet descriptive and illustrative of the beauties and attractions of Newport, Pittwater, and the celebrated Hawkesbury lakes. The work consists of about eight page- of letter-press and nine carefully lithographed drawings, depicting the more important scenes and places of interest in the locality. The description is capably written, and the illustrations, lithographed by Mecsis. S. T. Leigh and Co., from water colour drawing- by Mr. H. Brees, are very creditably executed, and give excellent ideas of the places represented. Appended is a plan and local sketch of the new marine township of Newport, and altogether the publication is one which will commend itself highly to all interested in one of the most picturesque spots on the New South Welsh coast.
